Gifting

One of the gifts that our parish has been able to offer the wider church is the gift of a curacy. Today we farewell Rev'd Margaret Neate as she finishes her curacy with us. She changes in a few days time from being a curate (which is a priest in training and formation) to a Vicar, who stands in vicariously for the bishop. Our parish has been able to form many fine priests over the years that have gone on to serve the wider church. Since I have been here, Rev'd Stephanie Robson has finished her curacy here and is currently the Diocesan Education coordinator. The Rev'd John McLister has finished his curacy and is currently the Lyttelton port chaplain and Vicar of Lyttelton, Rev'd Kofe Havea finished her curacy and is now the Vicar of Cashmere. Those with a longer history will think of others. It's a real gift to be able to do this as few parishes have the means or the experience to form vicars.

Margaret has been very open to learning with a warm pastoral heart. We wish her every possible blessing.

Thank you parish family, for your part in her formation. It takes a whole village to raise a curate!

Sunday Service Roster

There is now limited number of hardcopies of the roster at the back of the church for those who need one.

Sipping not dipping

It's great to have the Covid restrictions lifted and to be able to share the chalice once again. A gentle reminder not to dip your bread in the wine. The reason is that more bacteria is present on our hands than our lips. If you are ill or don't want to drink from the cup you can just hold it. Many do this already. The teaching of the church is that communion received as bread only is communion fully received.

The preschool families responded generously to the Christmas Shoe Box appeal this year. On Wednesday last week Rev David Winfield and Leigh Craythorne came for the blessing of the boxes at preschool.

The children loved helping to carry the filled boxes out to the car, ready for delivery to the distribution centre. It's wonderful to see the children so willing to help and it's a great opportunity to encourage our children to be mindful of those less fortunate in our world.

The year is racing by and it will be Christmas before we know it. Please save the date of 27th November for a Christmas celebration at preschool.
